Abstract:

This collection consists of materials on earth buildings, and more specifically, rammed earth buildings. Included in the collection are manuscripts, historical materials, manuals and information about building rammed earth homes and walls, magazine articles, correspondence, photographs, information on seminars, and newspaper clippings.

Scope and Content Note:

This collection consists of materials on earth buildings, and more specifically, rammed earth buildings. Included in the collection are manuscripts, historical materials, manuals and information about building rammed earth homes and walls, publications, pamphlets, magazine articles, correspondence, photographs, information on seminars, and newspaper clippings.

The following publication by the Millers can be located in the Michener Stacks: Miller, David J. & Lydia. Rammed Earth Homes Manual for Building a Rammed Earth Wall. Greeley, CO: D. J. & Lydia Miller, 1980. (TH4818 S6 M5).

Biographies of David J. and Lydia Miller:

David J. and Lydia Miller were nationally recognized experts on rammed earth buildings. They organized the Rammed Earth Institute International, a non-profit organization that promoted rammed earth techniques. They also were founding members of the American Historical Society of Germans from Russia.

David Miller was born on May 23, 1906 to Jacob and Katherina Margaret (Walker) Miller in Loveland, Colorado. He received a bachelor's degree 1929 and a law degree in 1932, both from the University of Colorado, and was admitted to the Colorado Bar in 1933. He served as an attorney for the Federal Land Bank in Wichita and the Denver Joint Stock Land Bank of Denver prior to opening a law office in Greeley, Colorado. He practiced law in Greeley from 1939 until his retirement in 1987.

David J. and Lydia Alles on August 13, 1933 on the Alles family farm and lived there until her death in 1992.

The Millers became interested in rammed earth techniques after seeing an article in American Home in 1937. Three years later they met, J. Palmer Boggs, an architect who also expressed an interest in Rammed earth techniques. The Millers and Boggs began construction on their first rammed earth home in 1945. They teamed together again in 1949 to build the Miller's home. By 1981 there were six rammed earth homes in the Alles Acre subdivision in Greeley, Colorado.

Miller had a special interest in irrigation and water law and became involved in a cases involving dissolution of Colorado irrigation districts and transmountain water diversion from the Western to the Eastern slopes of Colorado. Miller donated his papers related to irrigation and water to Archival Services. For more information, see: David Miller Water Collection \(SC 02\).

Miller donated materials to Archival Services related to the time he spent on Gen. Lucius Clay's legal staff in Berlin, Germany, with the Office of Military Governments and the Intelligence Division in Nurenberg and Bad Nauheum during 1948-1949. For more information, see: David Miller Nürnberg Collection \(SC 03\).

David Miller was a member of the Weld County, Colorado, American Bar Associations. And a charter member of the Dean's Club at the University of Colorado School of Law. He was active with the Democratic Party, serving as Weld County's chairman in 1940-1941. He ran as a candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives, Colorado Attorney General and Colorado Lieutenant Governor. He served on the Colorado Conservation Board and Missouri Basin Interagency Committee.

He was a member of Occidental Lodge No. 20 A.F. & A.M., Denver Consistory of Scottish Rites, El Jebel Temple, and Greeley Shrine Club.

The Millers were members of World Peace Through Law, and Habitat for Humanity, the First Congregational Church and St. Paul's Congregational Church.

David J. Miller passed away on May 4, 1993.

Lydia Alles Miller was born February 1, 1908 to Adam Peter and Mary Elizabeth (Doell) Alles in Lincoln, Nebraska. She grew up on the family farm located in the Alles Acres subdivision of Greeley, Colorado.

She attended school in Greeley and received a bachelor's degree in foreign languages from Colorado State Teachers College (now the University of Northern Colorado) in 1929. She taught language classes in Grover and Grande, Arizona; Greeley Central High School; College High School; and the University of Northern Colorado.

Lydia Miller "helped organize the Greeley League of Women Voters and the Girl Scouts." She was also a member of the American Association of University Women and Delta Kappa Gamma. Active in the Weld County Democratic Party and the Jane Jeffersons, Lydia Miller ran for the Colorado House of Representatives in 1942.

Lydia Alles Miller passed away on April 23, 1992.

Arrangement:

Series 1: General Alphabetical files on earth houses

These are the original Miller files on earth buildings, constructions and supplies with photographs, correspondence and other materials. They also contain several books on earth construction including the Miller publication Rammed Earth: A Selected Bibliography. Greeley, CO: Rammed Earth Institute International, 1982. A large number of photographs are included in the files.

Series 2: Published Materials

These files included published article on the subject of the collection. They are listed by author, by geographical location and title of the periodical.

Series 3: Miscellaneous

These files contain historical material, manuals and information about building rammed earth homes and walls, partial manuscripts, Mother Earth News and seminars, Miller House 1946 (the original Adam P. Alles house), and newspaper and magazine clippings.

Restrictions on Access: The collection is open for research.
